Punchard, Johnson Primed For Holiday Tilt

Two ancient gridiron rivals, Punchard and Johnson, will renew their annual football series on the local playground Thanksgiving day. The kick-off will be at 10:15 a.m.

Both teams will be winding up a season that has found them compiling records much poorer than average. However, both teams are primed for this game and a victory for either would do much to retrieve some prestige for their season's efforts.

During the season both teams have suffered the loss of several key men due to injuries. Johnson has a record somewhat better than Punchard's with four victories and four defeats, while the Blue and Gold warriors have but one victory and a string of seven defeats.

A comparison of records against mutual opponents shows that the North Andover eleven defeated Chelmsford 14 - 13. Chelmsford beat Punchard 32 - 19. Johnson lost a 13 - 0 decision to Methuen, and the latter battered Punchard 27 - 7. Reading beat Punchard 27 - 6, and then romped all over Johnson 40 - 0. Ipswich ran away with Punchard 27 - 0 and took Johnson 38 - 18.

Air Observers Test For Dec. 1

The ground observation corps will have a test from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Saturday, Dec. 1, according notice received by Albert Cole Jr., supervisor of the Andover aircraft observation post, from the Eastern Air Defense headquarters.

The post will operate in accordance with the general instructions. All aircraft, except those which are obviously landing at, or taking off from, or flying around a nearby airport, will be reported to the proper filter center.

Special instructions will be received from the Eastern Air Defense command prior to the day of the test. It will not be necessary to have an advance meeting of the local observers. The members are asked to call the civil defense office and specify the hours they will be available. Since this test is only for one day shorter periods of duty will be possible if the observers desire.

Says Boudreau Will "Wake Up" The Red Sox

Boudreau will "waken up" the Red Sox and both Boston clubs will be better next year, in the opinion of Jack Onslow, former Chicago White Sox manager who spoke at the Birthday meeting of the Andover Service club at the Andover Inn last Thursday night.

"Boudreau is the kind of a fellow who will work out twice a day. He'll work out in the morning and play a game in the afternoon," the speaker continued in his discussion of the Red Sox future. "I think you'll have a better ball club down there in 1952."

Body Of Veteran To Arrive Today

The body will be met by a delegation of members from all veterans' organizations and will be escorted to the square, whence it will be taken to the late home 117 Greenwood rd.

Funeral services will be held at 1 p.m. Sunday in the Holy Cross Armenian Apostolic church, East Haverhill st., Lawrence, conducted by the Very Rev. Hemayag Intoyan, pastor. Burial will be in Spring Grove cemetery.

Parade Opens Observance Of Holidays

A gala street parade with musical units, gaily decorated floats, marching groups and other novelties will wend its way through streets of the business area this evening as the newly-installed Christmas lights are being turned on to usher in the holiday season.

Under the joint auspices of the new Andover board of trade and the Andover Boosters' club preparations for this event have been going on for some time. Details have been in the hands of capable committees of both organizations who have made every effort to make this initial celebration in Andover's Christmas program one to be long remembered.

Installation of the new street lights for the Christmas season is the board of trade's contribution to the program. The parade and exercises which will follow are part of the Booster's plan for a big pre-Thanksgiving day football rally and both are being combined to make this celebration a memorable one.

In connection with the festivities the merchants along Main street will have their stores open until 8 o'clock and all of their store window lights on to combine with the decorations in the street.

The plan for this evening is to have the parade form on Elm street with the head opposite the Free church. Promptly at 6:30 p.m. the Christmas lights will be switched on and the parade will start.

Old Newspaper Depicts Life Of A Century Ago

A copy of the Andover Advertiser of almost a century ago has just been brought to the attention of The Townsman by Mrs. Glenn H. Roundy of 28 Wolcott ave., who recently came across this and another later copy of the paper at her home.

Mrs. Roundy, who says that these old papers must have been in her family for many years, thought they would be a source of great interest to The Townsman and its readers in comparison with the news coverage of today's events in the town.

The copy, dated Saturday, October 13, 1855, was published, according to its page one announcement, at the office of Warren F.

Group Questions Location Of House

A group of citizens from Shawsheen Heights appeared before the board of selectmen Monday night to discuss the matter of the location of a house on a vacant lot in the vicinity of George street and Yale avenue.

One of the questions involved is the use of the land for a 20-foot proposed way. The matter was referred to the town counsel to discuss with the parties involved.

One Good Point

An inspector noted for his fault-finding propensities was inspecting a newly completed portion of the trans-Canada highway. He grumbled at everything. The crown was not high enough, the shoulder too steep, the ditches not deep enough and so on.

The foreman bore it all patiently. Then he straightened up to his full height and, looking the inspector in the eye, asked: "How is she for length?"

OLD NEWSPAPER DEPICTS FORMER LIFE

Draper, opposite Phillips academy and was "conducted by an association of gentlemen." On transient advertising the terms were "75 cents per square for the first insertion, and 50 cents for each susbequent insertion, to be paid for invariably in advance. A square occupies a space equal to 16 lines."

One of the first items on page one is headed "The Fast Young Lady," probably the flapper of 1855. She is "one of the developments of female liberty...But youth and beauty lend such a charm to all she does that we are attracted more than is quite right for our prim propriety to acknowledge."

We learn "she is indefatigable in her coquetry; while revolving in the arms of her beau, she will illuminate another by her bright glances; her hand will return the warm pressure of a devoted admirer, while her little foot is busy with its rival...Her daring spirit is always flying beyond the verge of decorum, and hovering in the dangerous neighborhood of vice."

And in the next column we read of "A Young Man's Character," that "it is of amazing worth to a young man to have a pure mind, for this is the foundation of a pure character. The mind, in order to be kept pure, must be employed on topics of thought which are themselves lovely, chastened and elevating."

Aside from this editorializing on page one, the paper "conducted by an association of gentlemen" had a number of news items.

"It becomes our painful duty to chronicle the most dreadful casualty which has ever occurred on the Boston and Maine railroad. On Monday morning the train leaving this town at quarter before eight Boston had proceeded as far as the line between Melrose and Malden, when a cow suddenly jumped upon the track in front of the engine.

"The engineer sprung his whistle and made every effort to effect her removal, but without success. A collision ensued, by which the engine, tender, baggage car and one of the passenger cars were thrown off the track with most fatal and heart-rending consequences."

In the accident two persons were killed, Charles Richardson, an Andover native, and J. Edward Abbott; seven were injured.

On the same page was a story from the London Times of Sept. 26 entitled "Scenes in the Battle of Tchernaya", and an extract from a soldier's letter describing the beauties of the Crimea.

The ordination of Mr. George Moore as pastor of the Old South church and society of this town took place the previous Wednesday and among the churches represented were the church in the Theological seminary, Andover, the West church, and the Ballardvale Union church.

Besides a story about the ripening of apples and pears, the back page contained an article entitled "Hunting Snakes."

It told of a doctor in Indiana who had a patient who had been bitten by a snake, and who reported: "In 36 hours he was sound and well. I gave him in the short time alluded to, one quart of brandy and one and a half gallons of whiskey — all without intoxication. he wanted more and I refused to supply his wants."

The story goes on to report that the next day a neighbor found the man barefooted and wading around in some we eds and grass. When asked what he was doing he replied: "I am hunting a snake. There ain't any liquor only what Dr. T. has, and he won't let me have any unless I am snake-bit, I'm hunting one."

Many Bequests In Webster Will

Bequests to various persons and organizations were made by Dean K. Webster, late of 11 Kenilworth st., it was learned when his will and a codicil were recorded Nov. 14 at the registry of probate in Lawrence.

The codicil, dated Aug. 18, 1950, directed that the Lawrence YMCA, the Lawrence General hospital and the Lawrence Masonic Assn., each be awarded 20 shares of preferred stock in the H. K. Webster Co.

Webster died Nov. 4. The will, signed April 14, 1943, nominated his sons and sole next-of-kin, Dean K. Webster, Jr., and Walter N. Webster, both of Andover, as co-executors. No estimate of the value of the estate was listed.

Webster gave 10 shares of preferred stock in the H. K. Webster Co. to Sanford Horskin of Pelham, N. H., "because of his personal kindness to me over many years," provided that he was in the company's employ at the time of the testator's death. Ten more shares were awarded to Rayburn B. Hathaway of Andover under the same condition, and Webster set forth that Hathaway had "been loyal to me in many services in past years." Ten additional shares were left to Thomas J. Marjerison, Jr., of Lawrence with a like proviso.

Bequests of $100 each were given to Seddon H. Whatmough, Jr., of Salem, N. H., Lucian H. McLoon of Salem, N. H., and Roderick E. Bedard and Gilbert H. Harris, both of Pelham, N. H., provided that they were in the employ of the company or of Webster at the time of his demise.

Fifty shares of preferred stock in the H. K. Webster Co. were bequeathed to the trustees of the Central Methodist church of Lawrence. The testator stipulated that his Masonic jewelry be given to the respective Masonic bodies from which he received it, except that his 33rd degree ring is to go to his elder son, Dean K. Webster, Jr., and that his Henry Price medal is to go to the other son.

Webster's house at 11 Kenilworth street, was placed in trust and he directed that his sister-in-law, Mattie May Hatch, be allowed to occupy it for life without paying rent or upkeep expenses. Upon her death, the will said, the house is to become part of a residuary trust fund. Household furniture and equipment are to be left in the house for the sister-in-law's use, it was set forth, and when she dies, all household furnishings, automobiles, jewelry, books, and personal effects are to be given outright to the sons.

The testator stated that he desired that the financial standing of the H. K. Webster Co. be maintained, and that control of the corporation remain "in my descendants". Residue of the estate was placed in trust for the two sons. Upon their deaths, the will recited, their issue is to have shares of the principal outright upon reaching the age of 25.

Atomic Exhibit At The Library

The photographs draw largely from the work of Life's science photographer, Fritz Goro; others are the army air force photographs and more Life photographs by other experts. The exhibition attempts to suggest that atomic energy is not exclusively a scientific matter but inevitably involves social and political questions.

The exhibit may be seen through the rest of November.

Churches Join In Bible Reading

Among the thousands of churches which will cooperate with World-wide Bible reading, Thanksgiving to Christmas, is the Andover Baptist church according to announcement by the pastor, the Rev. Roy E. Nelson, Jr.

Millions of Bible readers in many languages join in using the same selected list of Scripture passages for this period of approximately one month. President Truman annually heads up a national committee of laymen who sponsor the movement.

Additional observance of Universal Bible Sunday is being planned for Dec. 9th, the Rev. Mr. Nelson said. Promoted by the American Bible society, this day is intended to emphasize the primary importance of the Bible as a factor in the life of our nation and the work of all churches.

The Rev. Mr. Nelson stated that he has distributed 150 of the reading lists, and that interest in this runs high throughout the congregation of the Andover Baptist church.

Real religion never has to advertise for a chance to do good.

Let Us Give Thanks

The first Thanksgiving day was celebrated by the early Pilgrims for the mutual benefits of a bountiful harvest. After two years of near starvation in this country they had abundant crops. In their gratitude they set aside a day for all to give thanks to God, for instead of famine there was plenty which brought great rejoicing to the hearts of many.

We on this Thanksgiving day in 1951 can find much to be thankful for. Despite the strife in Korea and its great list of casualties, despite unrest and friction in many parts of the world, we have only to look at trouble spots elsewhere to remind us that God has been good to America.

We have freedom of action, freedom of worship. We are rich in material blessings that bring pleasure and comfort to our lives. We have the right of franchise, the freedom to discuss parties and candidates, the right to vote for those of our choice. Our priviliges and advantages are innumerable.

For these great gifts we can be thankful on this Thanksgiving day for the blessings that have been bestowed upon America and all that they mean to us.

$10,000 For A Job

It costs a lot of money to create a job for an industrial worker.

Even in 1939, when a dollar was worth a dollar, an average of about $6,000 was invested in industry for each worker employed. Today the figure is in the neighborhood of $10,000. This is the money that was spent for the "tools" which make jobs and high wages and production possible.

Invested money is known as capital. It is the savings of people who put it into industrial stocks and bonds in the hope of earning a little return over the years. It is the money which makes America rich and strong—and which is at the root of our unprecedented living standards.

Who are the capitalists? The answer is that they are a cross-section of America. About 15,000,000 people, for instance, are owners of industrial stocks. They include manual workers, executives, farmers, professional men, housewives, the operators of little businesses. They represent every creed and calling and color—and every income level. They are, in short, people who have faith in America and confidence in the American economy. And the number of these capitalists is growing daily.

No government can support its people. The government is a consumer and the people support it.

Over a million men and women left Sweden 100 years ago to come to this country. This story tells how they came, and for what reasons.

The United, Romulo.

Mgr. William J. Blake of the Boston office, says that, "Many veterans seem to be under the impression that departure of the district office has curtailed service to veterans. This is not true. The regional office is completely staffed and equipped to furnish complete service to veterans, including the handling of insurance accounts and the filing of death claims.

"A large staff of contact representatives is on duty in the regional office, and these men are qualified to give information, advice and assistance to veterans and their dependents on all veterans' benefits to which they may be entitled."

The third presented a melodramatic pantomime entitled, "And the lamp went out". RED CROSS NOTES

Last week representatives of the Andover Red Cross attended a regional blood coordinating meet- at Lynnfield. Mrs. Alden Cook, Col. Frank Purdon, and Miss Barbara Loomer heard an army captain who had recently been wounded in Korea tell them about the pressing need for blood. He said that during the hour he was driving to the meeting eight boys had been wounded and each had needed an average of nine pints of blood.

Andover residents who were unable to give blood at the time of the bloodmobile visit may donate in Lowell on Nov. 27 and 28, in Lawrence on Nov. 30, or at 314 Dartmouth st., Boston, at any time.

The Red Cross is very grateful for the generous response to the request for blankets. The families who needed them are now well supplied for the winter.

Exeter Faculty Member Resigns

The resignation of Earl A. Barrett from the Phillips Exeter academy faculty was announced by Principal William G. Saltonstall at Tuesday's faculty meeting. Chairman of the romance languages department since 1939 and a member of the faculty for 34 years, Mr. Barrett is well known to several generations of Exeter graduates.

To many persons Principal Saltonstall's announcement came as a surprise. Now in France on a half year's leave of absence, Mr. Barrett was expected to resume his teaching in February. Mr. Barrett has recently been in poor health, and after his leave he is hoping to engage in new pursuits.

Mr. Saltonstall also announced the appointment of DeVaux de-Lancey to succeed Mr. Barrett as chairman of the department of romance languages.

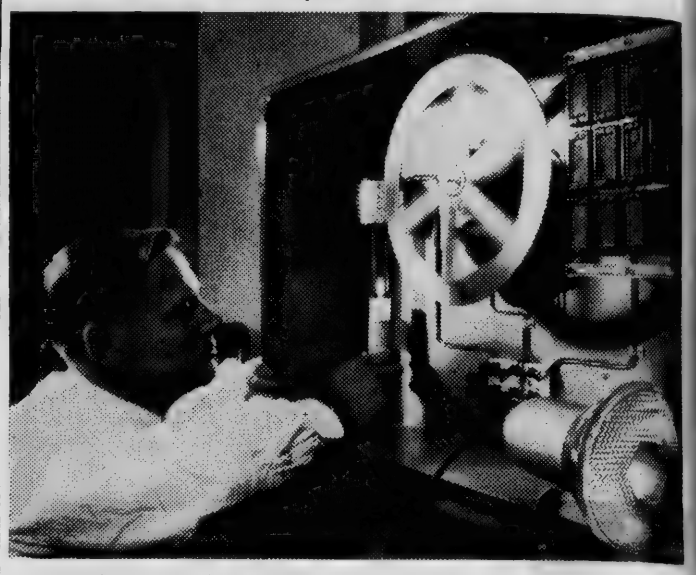
Sun Rays Run Motor



Sunlight, lamplight or the heat of a small candle (left) is converted into enough electrical energy to spin the light flywheel (center) of the Sun Motor, a device now being shown throughout the country in the General Motors "Previews of Progress" science shows. Because the sun is nature's greatest power reservoir, GM engineers use this machine to illustrate how to harness an infinitely small portion of the power available in the sun's rays.

Scientists point out that enough sunshine drenches the roof of an average one-family dwelling in 30 minutes to light, heat and run the electrical appliances in that dwelling for an entire year. But as yet engineers and scientists haven't learned the secret of converting the sun's rays efficiently into energy for such household chores.

If a candle isn't available, the Sun Motor can be propelled by the beam of the 150-watt electric lamp (lower right) focused on a series of so-called photovoltiac cells (upper right). Energy from the light beam or ordinary sunlight is converted chemically into electrical energy by the cells and the electrical current spins the flywheel.

New Towel Design Serves Double Duty

John K. Ottley, an Atlanta, Ga., advertising man, recently has come up with an idea for a new type of towel that will serve double duty.

The new cotton towel combines the features of a terry bath towel and a hand towel into a single item.

His towel has the conventional bath towel shape, but it has wide bands of smooth cotton on both ends of the terry cloth.

"When a man shaves, for instance," Mr. Ottley says, "he has to hang onto two towels—one to dry his face and one to catch hidden areas of shaving lather. He needs a terry towel and something as soft as a hand towel to come out with a clean and neat shave." Consequently, he determined to solve the problem—and his new towel is the result.

The double duty towel is said to be the first change that has been made in towel design in a number of years. It is now going into production and should soon be on the market.

LET GEORGE DO IT

A TRAMP knocked on the door of the inn known as "George and the Dragon." The landlady opened the door and the tramp asked, "Could you spare a hungry man a bite to eat?" "NO!" replied the landlady, slamming the door in his face.

A few minutes later the tramp knocked again. The landlady came to the door again. This time the tramp asked, "Could I have a few words with George?"

Pay $51 Million In Death Claims

Massachusetts families received $51,988,000 in life insurance death benefit payments in the first nine months of this year, compared with $46,864,000 in the corresponding period of last year, the Institute of Life Insurance reported today. The number of policies becoming claims in the first nine months was 54,731 which compares with 50,542 in the corresponding period of 1950.

"The increases of the past decade in life insurance ownership are reflected in these current payments," Holgar J. Johnson, Institute president, said "For the country as a whole, death benefits paid in the first nine months of this year were $109,455,000 greater than in the corresponding period of last year and 71 percent more than in the first nine months ten years ago."

Death benefit payments in this state in the first three quarters of 1951 compare with $33,310,000 in the corresponding period of 1941.

Of this year's nine month aggregate death benefit payments in this state, $33,319,000 was under 12,922 ordinary insurance policies; $8,689,000 was under 4,394 group life insurance policies; and $9,980,000 was under 37,415 industrial insurance policies.

For the nation as a whole, $1,283,896,000 was paid as death claims under 1,102,943 policies in the first nine months of this year, compared with $1,174,441,000 under 1,035,025 policies in the like period last year. Of this year's payments, $856,435,000 was under 320,479, ordinray policies; $250,818,000 was under 117,209 group policies; and $176,643,000 was under 665,255 industrial policies.

Another group, residents of Lincoln circle, was present to discuss the street numbering which involves several houses on an inner circle.

The Lawrence Gas & Electric Co. was granted permission for two pole locations on the westerly side of Shawsheen road, and one on the southerly side of Princeton avenue.

The same company was also granted permission to install service for a new home being erected on Carmel road by James Buss Sr.

Retired Resident Takes Own Life

H. Foster Straw, 56, retired navy man, was found Monday night at his home 28 Chestnut st., with a bullet wound in the right temple. Taken to the Lawrence General hospital in the fire department ambulance he was pronounced dead on arrival. Dr. Julius J. Burgiel, medical examiner, said death was caused by a self-inflicted bullet wound.

Officers Calvin Deyermond, Raymond Collins and Robert V. Deyermond investigated, and found a .32 calibre pistol on the floor.

Mrs. Margaret MacSwain, housekeeper, heard the shot and found Straw sitting in a chair, clad in nighclothing. Police report that earlier in the evening Mrs. MacSwain had seen Straw and offered to get him some supper but he refused and prepared for bed.

Police report that he is survived by a brother, William, of Manchester, N. H., where the funeral will be held.

Thanksgiving Dinner Makings Plentiful

Ample supplies of most of the items that make up the traditional Thanksgiving dinner are available to Essex county shoppers for this year's holiday meal. But the 1951 Thanksgiving dinner is going to cost more than the 1950 one did.

Turkey supplies are plentiful says Miss Christine V. Shea, associate home demonstration agent of the Essex county extension service. This year's turkey crop is estimated to be about 16 per cent larger than a year ago. But a large part of the crop has already been marketed. So, there won't be any flood of turkeys on the market. Retail prices are running a little higher than they did in 1950, but not much. Homemakers who plan to serve pork or poultry will find ample supplies of these items on the meat counters. Pork prices are quite a bit lower than they have been and poultry prices are reasonable right now.

For fruit, to supplement the holiday meal, there is a good variety from which to choose. Cranberries, apples, oranges, grape and grapefruit are all plentiful and at prices that should be within the reach of most budget conscious food shoppers.

Miss Shea says the vegetable picture is not so bright. Vegetable prices generally have increased sharply during the past week. Cold, wet weather in the Southern production areas, as well as poor weather in certain other sections of the nation has cut down on shipments reaching Essex county and New England. As a result, supplies of many vegetables are smaller than usual and prices are quite a bit higher than they were a year ago, or even a couple of weeks ago.

One Hundred and Twenty-Five Years of Service

On July 1, 1826 The Andover Bank opened its door for business, in a room which it had hired in a newly erected brick building, located on the Essex Turnpike, which is now Main Street, Andover. After a period of five years this building was purchased by the Bank. In 1865 it seemed expedient to convert the Bank from a State Bank into the National Banking System under the supervision of the Federal Government, accordingly The Andover Bank became The Andover National Bank. The year 1890 saw the present building completed. After a period of 125 years the Bank is still doing business at the same location, serving the people of Andover and the surrounding cities and towns and offering a wide variety of banking services. During the latter part of 1826 the Bank employed one person, assisting about 50 depositors with their banking problems. Over the 125 years of the Bank's existance, the activity has expanded to 36 officers and clerks who today serve 6,700 customer accounts in the several banking departments, exclusive of safe deposit tenants.

Officials and other members of the Bank Staff who are ready at all times to assist you in your financial needs.

Do You Know Massachusetts?

DO YOU KNOW THAT...During the year ending June 1951 there were 4,840 international flights from Logan airport at Boston, carrying 38,057 passengers, 80,633 pounds of mail, 156,521 pounds of express and 62,973 pounds of freight—Total commercial traffic of the airport, including domestic, was 67,154 flights, 1,101,151, passengers and 41,03,288 pounds of mail, express and freight— Marriages in seven leading Massachusetts cities during July fell 7% below the war rush in July last year, but the first seven months of 1951 totaled 6% more than a year ago. Bank checks paid in ten leading Massachusetts cities during August amounted to $3,509,328,000 or 7% more than in the same month last year. Massachusetts imports of foreign merchandise in June amounted to $97,400,000, second only to New York and nearly double those of the third highest state, Louisiana. Traffic on the new Route 128, counted near Lexington on Sunday, September 9, totaled 38,247 cars; the lowest weekday had 19,000. While new orders received by Massachusetts manufacturers in July amounted to 9.2% less than a year ago, they were still 32% above the July average for the years 1946 through 1949, as reported by Associated Industries. By the end of 1951, the average civilian will have eaten 30 pounds of chicken meat, 10% more than last year; 406 eggs, slightly more than last year; and about 5 pounds of turkey meat, about the same as last year, according to USDA estimates.

Now those bonds can keep on earning interest for ten more years!

ARE you one of those patriotic and thrifty citizens who has held your Series E Bonds the full ten years? Here is important news! Now you'll be able to keep those bonds earning more money. Without so much as your lifting a finger!

Last April, Congress passed the Bond Law which makes it possible for all Series E Government Bonds to continue earning interest for twenty years instead of ten as originally planned.

For example, a Series E Bond which cost you $18.75 in 1941 will pay you $25 in 1951. But if you hold that same bond ten extra years, until 1961, it will pay you $33.33, an average interest of 2.9%.

And there is nothing for you, as a bond holder, to do. You simply keep your bonds as you have been keeping them.

You may still redeem any Series E Bond at any time after you've owned it for sixty days. (The table on this page shows what you can get for it.) But holding on to your bonds is wise. Bankers recommend bonds as one of the safest forms of investment.

So remember the new money-making opportunity your Government is giving you. Just hold onto your bonds. And buy more, regularly, through the Payroll Savings Plan or the Bond-A-Month Plan.

Sounds Warning For Holiday Driving

This week our highways will be crowded with automobiles filled with happy family groups as they travel to traditional holiday reunions to enjoy pleasant memories and Thanksgiving day feasting.

Our Pilgrim Fathers set aside this day to thank the Almighty for their many blessings.

As your registrar of motor vehicles, I make this personal appeal to every driver and pedestrian, as you give thanks, to drive and walk with courtesy and consideration for each other.

Let us make this Thanksgiving a day of real happiness for all by demonstrating on our highways the same good manners we use at the dinner table.

Uncle Sam Says

This being November, let's talk turkey. And turkey in this case means what's good for you and all of U. S. alike; in short, it means greater individual and national security. By purchasing Defense Bonds regularly through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, or the Bond-A-Month Plan where you bank, you can systematically build up financial security for yourself and your family. At the same time you can be strengthening America's security against aggression and economic disorders.

Information For Veterans

Q—I received a national service life insurance dividend check from VA, and I'm sure VA made a mistake. How can I get things straightened out?

A—Write to the VA district office that handles your NSLI account, giving complete information so that the office can identify your case. The address is the same that appears on the printed envelope that VA sends you for premium payments. Do not write the VA central office in Washington.

Q—I am a patient in a VA hospital, and my doctor told me I am to be transferred to another hospital for specialized treatment. Who pays for the move?

A—The VA. Transportation between VA hospitals may be furnished at government expense, if the transfer is deemed necessary by VA doctors in charge of the case.

Q—Can a veteran enter into business with a non-veteran, and get a GI business loan?

A—Yes, provided the interest of the veteran is properly protected. VA's guarantee, however, will be limited to the veteran's portion of the business.

Q—I've been on active duty in the army for the past twenty years, and I am to be discharged. Will I be eligible for GI Bill training, or has the July 25 cutoff date killed my chances?

A—You will be eligible for training, provided you are discharged under other than dishonorable conditions. The July 25 cutoff date, for the most part, affected veterans discharged before July 25, 1947. Those discharged afterwards (such as yourself) have four years from discharge date in which to begin, and until July 25, 1956, in which to wind up training, depending on entitlement.

Q—I am a World War II veteran and I used up my $4,000 GI home loan guaranty over three years ago. Now I understand that a new law gives me an additioual $3,500 GI guaranty. Is that right?

A—Yes. The new defense housing act of 1951 permits World War II veterans to get the difference between the amount of the loan guaranty they used up before April 20, 1950 and $7,500, but only for home loans.

Sounds Warning For Holiday Driving

This week our highways will be crowded with automobiles filled with happy family groups as they travel to traditional holiday reunions to enjoy pleasant memories and Thanksgiving day feasting.

Our Pilgrim Fathers set aside this day to thank the Almighty for their many blessings.

As your registrar of motor vehicles, I make this personal appeal to every driver and pedestrian, as you give thanks, to drive and walk with courtesy and consideration for each other.

Uncle Sam Says

This being November, let's talk turkey. And turkey in this case means what's good for you and all of U. S. alike; in short, it means greater individual and national security. By purchasing Defense Bonds regularly through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, or the Bond-A-Month Plan where you bank, you can systematically build up financial security for yourself and your family. At the same time you can be strengthening America's security against aggression and economic disorders.

Information For Veterans

Q—I received a national service life insurance dividend check from VA, and I'm sure VA made a mistake. How can I get things straightened out?

A—Write to the VA district office that handles your NSLI account, giving complete information so that the office can identify your case. The address is the same that appears on the printed envelope that VA sends you for premium payments. Do not write the VA central office in Washington.

Q—I am a patient in a VA hospital, and my doctor told me I am to be transferred to another hospital for specialized treatment. Who pays for the move?

A—The VA. Transportation between VA hospitals may be furnished at government expense, if the transfer is deemed necessary by VA doctors in charge of the case.

Q—Can a veteran enter into business with a non-veteran, and get a GI business loan?

A—Yes, provided the interest of the veteran is properly protected. VA's guarantee, however, will be limited to the veteran's portion of the business.

Q—I've been on active duty in the army for the past twenty years, and I am to be discharged. Will I be eligible for GI Bill training, or has the July 25 cutoff date killed my chances?

A—You will be eligible for training, provided you are discharged under other than dishonorable conditions. The July 25 cutoff date, for the most part, affected veterans discharged before July 25, 1947. Those discharged afterwards (such as yourself) have four years from discharge date in which to begin, and until July 25, 1956, in which to wind up training, depending on entitlement.

Q—I am a World War II veteran and I used up my $4,000 GI home loan guaranty over three years ago. Now I understand that a new law gives me an additioual $3,500 GI guaranty. Is that right?

A—Yes. The new defense housing act of 1951 permits World War II veterans to get the difference between the amount of the loan guaranty they used up before April 20, 1950 and $7,500, but only for home loans.

managing the Chatanooga (Tenn.) Lookouts, also predicted better things for the Braves as he felt their farm system would soon be paying dividends. He said there were some farm hands coming up next year who should strengthen the club.

The former White Sox manager spoke before a large gathering of members who were also observing past - presidents' night and old timers' night. His topic was baseball and beside the observations he made on this theme he also injected a few humorous stories into his remarks.

Discussing the recent trade in which the Red Sox got Randy Gumpert, a pitcher, and Don Lenhardt, outfielder-infielder, Onslow said that if all the pitchers on the Red Sox followed the example of Gumpert in spring training they will have the best conditioned staff in baseball. Lenhardt hit for about .265 last season but Onslow said he would hit better in Boston. "But remember," he added, "you can't take that left field fence with you and put it up in Cleveland or New York."

He had great praise for "Birdie" Tebbetts, predicting that he would eventually be a big league manager. "If I had Tebbetts handling my pitchers in Chicago I might have been there yet," he added.

Recalling his trip to Germany after the last war when he with others were sent across to handle sports, he told of the prison camp at Dectau where thousands had been slaughtered, and some other things he observed, which made him tell his audience, "You want thank God you are Americans."

He had high praise for the Little League and was surprised at how well some of these lads can handle a ball. He felt the league is a movement that deserved support as it was "advancing boys to a good livelyhood."

He felt that the average fellow coming up in baseball is interested only in getting a big car and a big salary, not in giving that extra effort to do better. "There's nothing wrong with baseball except the lack of hustle and the will to win." He said Negro ball players do so well because they are not afraid to give that extra effort.

The meeting was opened by President Harold E. Heselton, who had presented the club with a large birthday cake containing 18 candles for the Service club and two representing the years it was the Lions' club.

Past presidents present included Henry S. Hopper, Carl E. Elander, Stanley F. Swanton, Edward P. Hall, Walter E. Buxton, E. H. Lewis, Frank L. Brigham, Thaxter Eaton, Walter C. Tomlinson, Richard G. Whipple and Francis E. Wilson. About 10 charter members were also present.

Octogenarians Harry Playdon and James H. Greeley (who was 80 last week) were called upon to take a bow, and William A. Doherty was signaled out as having a perfect attendance in the club's life.

The Rev. Frederick B. Noss of the South church offered prayer. Special prizes were awarded Frank L. Brigham, Kirk R. Batcheller, Edward P. Hall and Walter E. Buxton, who found special "gadgets" in the birthday cake entitling them to the awards.

Frank L. Brigham, who was called upon by Sidney P. White, program chairman, to introduce the speaker also gave a toast to the charter members whose efforts made the club possible.

It was announced that the next meeting would be held Dec. 13 and would be a Christmas party at the Andover Country club.

The letter of thanks received by Mrs. Waldie was, in part, as follows:

Dear Mrs. Waldie:

We wish to express our appreciation to you and your fine group for presenting the patients with one of the most enjoyable evenings they have had last evening, (Nov. 15,) in the hospital recreation hall.

It is with pleasure that we welcome such cooperative groups as yours. I can say that such generosits as your group displayed greatly helps us in our efforts to maintain a high standard of recreation for the veterans.

Please accept our gratitude for your fine work.

PUNCHARD, JOHNSON PRIMED FOR GAME

These records will mean little tomorrow when the teams meet. Despite the hapless season experienced by both the rival elevens seem to be somewhat evenly matched and a stirring contest should be in store for the fans who attend the holiday tilt.

Coach Walter Roberts of Punchard and Coach George "Benny" Lee of Johnson have been working on their charges for this final contest and both will have their best available teams ready to answer the whistle.

Since the series started in 1911 Punchard has won 20 games, Johnson six, and three have resulted in ties.
